

Appendix D: Screen-Related Websites

Center for Screen Time Awareness

www.tvturnoff.org/

The Center for SCREEN-TIME Awareness, formerly TV-Turnoff Network (Washington, DC), provides information so people can live healthier lives in functional families in vibrant communities by taking control of the electronic media in their lives, not allowing it to control them.

Media Awareness Network

www.media-awareness.ca/english/index.cfm

A Canadian non-profit organization that has been pioneering the development of media and digital literacy programs since its incorporation in 1996. ...MNet focuses its efforts on equipping adults with information and tools to help young people understand how the media works, how the media may affect their lifestyle choices and the extent to which they, as consumers and citizens, are being well informed.

Screen Smart

www.screensmart.ca

'Screen Smart' is a broad based community education initiative in Revelstoke, BC helping families better understand how screen media - TV, computers and the Internet, - may influence their lives, and suggest ways that parents and children can best manage media at home and at school. To learn about 'Screen Smart' visit www.screensmart.ca.

Screen Smart Kids

www.screensmartkids.org

The Screen Smart Kids website is designed to be a resource for educators and families on the topic of understanding screen time in today's electronic media saturated world.